Acting Principal's Message-

I would like to thank the DJ's, Mr. Arturo Santana, and his brother Eric Santana, for donating his time to the Balmville School Community, and making all the students feel special with all the great music selections they played. I would like to thank the Balmville PTA, for their decorations, fundraising efforts, and their team clean up effort in the gym.

I would like to thank the parents for bringing and staying with the children as they enjoyed rocking to the beats of DJ Santana's music.

The Spring Dance was a huge success!

I Sense that Spring is Here!

Students in Ms. Childers' fifth grade class explained how they knew spring had arrived without using a calendar.

I Can Sense the Spring

I sense that Spring is here
I hear the robins singing
I step outside to see
The things that spring is bringing

I can feel the wind
It blows into my face
I smell the dampest scent
But I don't know what I taste
Samuel Conti

I sense spring is here
I sense mourning doves,
And my parents give me lots of love.
I go to Rita's and get ice cream,
And sometimes get vanilla bean.
I hear baby birds chirping,
And my dad is doing more and working.
I sense more robins,
And more people sobbing.
I sense flowers and more of
My grandma's food to devour.
Charles Crump

I sense that spring is here.
When the eggs hatch in the nest.
The birds sing while they fly.
The sunrise in the blue sky.

The hawk soars in the air.
While deer play.
The bees fly in the sky.
And the flowers bloom.
Carnell Hinson

I sense that spring is here

Love starts at spring
One colorful season
Very pretty flowers
Everything is in spring

Super fun in spring
Pretty sunshine
Ripe fruit
In the spring everything is green
Nothing is better than spring
Growing season
Armondo Aguilar

I sense that spring is here
Because the robins are singing
But no Christmas bells are ringing
While flowers are growing
The ice cream shops are flowing
I don't see the melting snow
Because the grass is trying to grow
The weather is getting warmer
And the air is getting damper
And those are some signs that spring is here.
Kyle Olivencia

I can smell it in the air
Because what I see doesn't mean anything to me.
But I sense that spring is here.
Sometimes I feel the sun and hear the wind and the cold glass in my hand.
Bees are buzzing but the butterflies are flying and now I know spring is here.
